ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1848.

☉	☽	☉	☽	☉
March 5.	March 19.	Aug. 28.	Sept. 12.	Sept. 27.

There will be five Eclipses this year; three of the Sun, and two of the Moon.

I. The first will be of the Sun, March the 5th, on Sunday morning, visible in New England; but so small as to be scarcely an object of curiosity. Beginning, 7h. 38m.; middle, 7h. 48m.; end, 8h. 1m. Quantity eclipsed, less than a quarter of a digit, on the Sun's north limb.

II. Of the Moon, March 19th, 4h. 21m. in the afternoon, invis.

III. Of the Sun, Aug. 28th, 2h. 15m. in the afternoon, invisible in the northern hemisphere, and so small in the southern as possibly to be neglected by some calculators.

IV. Of the Moon, September the 12th and 13th, visible and total, and by calculation as follows:

	H. M.
Beginning, the 12th day in the evening .	11 52	Apparent time. Sun fast of clock, 4m.
Begins to be total, 13th day in the morning .	0 47
Ecliptic opposition	14)
Middle of the eclipse	1 42
End of total darkness	2 30
End of the eclipse	3 28

Duration of total darkness, 1h. and 43m. Duration of the eclipse, 3 hours and 36m. The Moon's centre will pass through the north side of the Earth's shadow. About 54m. before the eclipse begins, the Moon will gradually lose its brightness in a kind of haze, called the Earth's penumbra, and will pass out of it in about the same time after the Moon leaves the Earth's shadow.

V. Of the Sun, September 27th, 5 o'clock in the morning, invisible to us.

VENUS will be the MORNING STAR until July 22; thence it will be the EVENING STAR.

Explanations respecting the time of High Water.

The time of High Water, as inserted in the calendar pages, will answer for all places on or near the sea-coast, from Newburyport, Mass., to Kennebunk, Me. For Boston, Salem, &c., add 15m. For New-Bedford, subtract 3h. 36m. For Portland, subtract 1h. For Providence, R. I., subtract 2h. 50m. For New-Haven, Conn., subtract 58m.

ASA M'FARLAND, PRINTER.

"Those who cross the seas change their climate, but not their mind."—That maxim of the poet is meant to enforce, that weak minds can derive but little advantage from the survey of foreign countries—or, in another sense, that the guilty can not leave themselves behind.

"He who is a friend must love, but he who loves is not therefore a friend. Thus friendship is always advantageous, whilst love is sometimes injurious."—This is a useful lesson to the fair sex, who should learn to distinguish between that disinterested friendship, which seeks only their happiness, and that selfish love, which would destroy their peace, for its own gratification.

Malum in se. Lat.—"A thing evil in itself."—Malum prohibitum.—"A thing evil, because forbidden."—To illustrate the legal distinction between those two species of evil, it is only necessary to observe that murder is "an evil in itself."—The exportation of wool, commonly called "owling," was not punishable as an evil until it was prohibited by the law.

"Let not the shoemaker go beyond his last."—These were the words of Apelles to a Crispin, who properly found fault with an ill-painted slipper in one of his pictures, but, ascending to other parts, betrayed the grossest ignorance. No man should pass his opinion in a province of art, where he is without a qualification.

"With an ugly nose, to be remarkable for fine black eyes and hair."—Beauty consists in the proportion, correspondence and harmony of parts.—A fine eye, the poet hints, will only serve to make an ugly nose the more conspicuous. Thus the value of one qualification is frequently impaired through the want of another.

"Justice, though moving with a tardy pace, has seldom failed of overtaking the wicked in their flight."—It is one of the strongest arguments for the belief of a superintending Providence, that few men, guilty of enormous crimes, whether the scourge fall sooner or later, have finally escaped their deserved punishment.

"A man who is always well satisfied with himself, is seldom so with others, and others are as little pleased with him."—A man, who has an overweening conceit of himself, is too proud to be pleased with the efforts of others, and by that pride is sure to excite a general disgust against himself.

"To be sparing of persons, and to lash their crimes."—This is a precept of which the honest satirist should never lose sight. It is his duty to lash the vice in general terms; if he descends to personalities, the world will attribute it to spleen against the individual, or perhaps to some motive even less honorable.

Punica fides. Lat.—"Punic faith."—This phrase was used in an ironical sense by the Romans, to denote the treachery of the Carthagenians—a charge from which they were not themselves to be exempted. It is now used generally to mark the absence of good faith, or the breach of a political engagement.

"Why does opium induce sleep? Because it has in it a sleepy quality."—This question and answer are given by MOLIERE, in ridicule of that pompous ignorance which affects to solve every difficulty, whilst it dwells only in lofty nomeanings; or, as in this instance, only retorts the terms of the original question.

Early Statistics of the Government of the State of New-Hampshire.

In 1774, May 10, at a meeting of the General Assembly of New-Hampshire, the House of Representatives, notwithstanding the remonstrance of Gov. Wentworth, appointed a committee of correspondence, for the purpose of interchange of important information with committees in the other colonies appointed for similar duties. The assembly convened at Portsmouth.

April 21, 1775, [two days after the battle of Lexington, with very creditable promptness, news of the battle was conveyed to the committee of correspondence in New-Hampshire, and by this committee notices were forwarded to 71 towns, requesting one or more delegates from each to assemble at Exeter forthwith,] a Convention met at Exeter, consisting of 68 delegates, from 34 towns, on the first day of the convention, and on the 25th of April, 41 more from 37 towns.

Of the doings of this convention there is very little to be found on record; and perhaps the following vote, passed on the first day of the convention, will make it somewhat apparent why there is no more to be found on record:

"Voted, that all the transactions of this Convention be kept secret, and that each member pledge his honor and faith strictly to observe the same."

There are no records found which show this convention were in session later than the 6th of May.

In the early part of May, 1775, delegates in a large portion of the towns in New-Hampshire, were chosen to assemble at Exeter on the 17th instant, and to serve in Congress six months, if needed.

May 17, 1775, the Provincial Congress met at Exeter, and the whole number of delegates was 151.

This Congress continued in session from May 17 to September 2, and then adjourned to October 31, on which day they assembled again and served to November 16, when the time expired for which they were elected.

November 14, the committee reported the number of Representatives for the next Congress, which was to meet December 21. The report was accepted, and each county to send the following number of Representatives: Rockingham, 38; Strafford, 13; Hillsborough, 17; Cheshire, 15; and Grafton, 6; total, 89 Representatives; and they were to serve one year.

December 21, 1775, the second Congress met at Exeter, and numbered 77.

January 5, 1776, this Congress resolved itself into a House of Representatives, and adopted a "Temporary Constitution."

The Constitution provided "that said house then proceed to choose twelve persons, being reputable freeholders, and inhabitants within this colony, in the following manner, viz: five in the county of Rockingham, two in the county of Strafford, two in the county of Hillsborough, two in the county of Cheshire, and one in the county of Grafton,—to be a distinct and separate branch of the Legislature, by the name of a Council for this Colony, to continue as such until the third Wednesday in December next; any seven of whom to be a quorum to do business:

"That such council appoint their President; and in his absence, that the senior counsellor preside."

The constitution provided, "that all public officers, for said colony, and each county, for the current year, be appointed by the Council and Assembly, except the several clerks of the executive courts, who shall be appointed by the justices of the respective courts." And the constitution further provided, "If the present unhappy dispute with Great Britain should continue longer than this present year,—and the Continental Congress give no instructions or directions to the contrary—the council be chosen by the people of each respective county, in such manner as the council and house of representatives shall order." All general and field officers of the militia, and all officers of the army were appointed by the two houses; also all civil officers for the colony, and for each county, except clerks, county treasurers, and recorders of deeds.

Precepts were issued annually by the two houses at or before the first day of November, for the choice of a council and house of representatives—and they held their first session on the third Wednesday in December next following.

This Constitution continued in force until 1783 inclusive, or rather to June, 1784, as there was a session of the Legislature held at Exeter, March 30, 1784, which was organized under the temporary constitution, December 17, 1783. It would then appear that this constitution was in force about eight years and five months, during which the Legislature held 41 sessions, making about an annual average of five sessions.

The shortest session during the whole time was 3 days, longest 39; the whole number of days 817, making about an annual average of 97 days; and, omitting fractions, 19 days per session.

The new Constitution was formed in 1783. The first election of state officers took place in March, 1784, and the first session of the General Court held at Concord, June 2, 1784.

In this Constitution, for the choice of the Senate and Council, it reads as follows:

"And the several counties in this State shall, until the General Court shall order otherwise, be districts for the election of senators, and shall elect the following number, viz: Rockingham, five; Strafford, two; Hillsborough, two; Cheshire, two; Grafton, one.

"Council. Annually, on the first meeting of the General Court, two members of the senate and three from the house of representatives, shall be chosen by joint ballot of both houses as a council, for advising the president in the executive part of the government," &c.

Meshech Weare, president elect, did not appear to take the oath of office until the 15th day of June, the first session under the New Constitution; and there having been some disagreement in the senate who should be considered the senior senator, it was finally agreed upon to decide by vote, and the secretary to receive the ballots; it resulted in the choice of Woodbury Langdon.

The first President, Council and Senate which assembled under the New Constitution; (June 2, 1784;) with brief statistical notices of each member.

* Elected in convention of both houses.

Secretary, Ebenezer Thompson,	Durham,	1802,	68
Treasurer, John Taylor Gilman,	Exeter,	Aug. 31, 1828,	75

Meshech Weare was the son of Nathaniel Weare, and born at Hampton in the year 1714. He graduated at Harvard College, 1735. Was Speaker of the House of Representatives in 1752; 1754, was appointed Commissioner to the Congress held at Albany; he was promoted from Justice to Chief Justice of the Superior Court in 1776; he was chosen President of the State in 1776, under the Temporary Constitution—and annually after until the close of the war with Great Britain, in 1783. He was also elected President under the New Constitution, which went into operation in 1784. Mr. Weare was very feeble at the time of the session of the Legislature in June, and he did not appear until the 15th, when he took the oath of office; and the session was closed on the 15th of June. He was President of the Committee of Safety from July 6, 1775, to May 29, 1784. Dr. Belknap, who was personally acquainted with him, says, "he was not a person of an original inventive genius, but had a clear discernment, extensive knowledge, accurate judgment, calm temper, a modest deportment, an upright and benevolent heart, and a habit of prudence and diligence in discharging the various duties of public and private life. He did not enrich himself by his public employment, but was one of those good men, 'who dare to love their country and be poor.'"

John McClary was born in Ireland—came to this country when quite young. His opportunities for acquiring an education were limited, but he possessed a strong and vigorous mind, with good common sense. He was elected to the Council in 1780, and after, annually, making four years under the Temporary Constitution; and previously he was prompt to the call of the Convention held in Exeter, April 21, 1775—was also chosen Representative in 1776 and 1778. He was chosen to the Council in 1784, and to the Senate the same year; to the Senate he was chosen three successive years; and was a member of the Committee of Safety from April, 1777, most of the time to January, 1783.

Joseph Badger was a very worthy man among the first settlers of Gilmanton—many years town-clerk and selectman, representative, &c. He was the first magistrate appointed in Gilmanton, 1768—was chosen councillor in 1784; he was appointed Judge of Probate for the County of Strafford, December, 1784, and served until he was 70 years of age; he was, also, in 1780, Brigadier General.

Moses Chase was one of the early settlers in Cornish, and a man who was much respected; he was entrusted with civil offices of importance at home, and elected Representative to the General Court in 1783; he was also elected Senator for Cheshire, 1784, 1785 and 1788, and was elected by the two houses Councillor for 1784 and 1787.

Francis Blood was one of the early settlers in Temple, and favorably known as a man of Intelligence and integrity. He represented the town in the General Court for the years 1776-7-8-9, '80 and '81; he was elected Councillor in 1784, and was appointed Judge in the Court of Common Pleas prior to 1787, and served a number of years.

Nathaniel Peabody was the son of Dr. Jacob Peabody, and born at Topsfield, Mass. He studied with his father, and went into practice of medicine in 1760 in that part of Plaistow afterward annexed to Atkinson. He was appointed Lieutenant-Colonel in the Militia, 1774, and in December of this year he and several others went to Fort William and Mary, at Newcastle, confined the captain and his men, and then carried off 100 barrels of powder. He represented Plaistow and Atkinson in the Assembly for the years 1776-8-9; also served on the Committee of Safety. He was in 1778 appointed Adjutant-General, and was in command under Gen. Whipple over troops from this State in Rhode Island. In 1779 was elected delegate to the Continental Congress—was Representative and Speaker in the Legislature—was Councillor and Senator; he was chairman of a committee to draft a new constitution.

Joseph Gilman was elected to the Senate four successive years from Rockingham county; first three years by the people and the fourth year in convention; he was Councillor in 1787, and one of the Committee of Safety from January 8, 1784, to May 29, at which time the committee was abolished.

Woodbury Langdon was born at Portsmouth—educated a merchant. He was chosen Representative 1778—Senator 1784. 1782, was appointed Justice of Superior Court: he resigned 1783,—was again appointed to the same office in 1786.

Timothy Walker was the son of Rev. Timothy Walker, Concord. He was elected Representative in May and December, 1775—again 1781—was Councillor 1777 three successive years; he was one of the Committee of Safety from July 5, 1776, to January 20, 1777, and was appointed Justice of the Court of Common Pleas 1777, and Chief Justice in 1790.

John Langdon was a native of Portsmouth. He was Representative from Portsmouth from 1776 to 1782; also annually elected Speaker. He was elected Senator 1784 and 1785,—also candidate for President 1785, there being no choice by the people; but in convention, he was elected President; again elected in 1788—the same year he was elected to Congress for six years, and chosen President of the Senate—was chosen second term to Congress. He was elected Governor for the years 1805-6-7-8 and 1810-11. He was appointed Justice of the Court of Common Pleas in 1776. "Governor Langdon was easy, polite, and pleasing in his manners, and social in his habits; remarkably well calculated to gain the public esteem, which he was generally fortunate enough to retain."

John Wentworth was the son of the Hon. John Wentworth, and born at Somersworth; he was educated for the bar, and settled in Dover. Mr. Wentworth was one of the Committee of Safety most of the time from January 20, 1777, to May 28, 1778; was also Representative from Dover 1776-7-8-9 and 1780; he was appointed Register of Probate for Strafford county, January 27, 1776, and served until February, 1788; he was delegate to the General Congress two or more terms; he was chosen to the Senate of this State for 1784 and 1785. (In Vol. 5, N. H. Historical Collections, page 242, the writer does not give him credit of serving in the Senate at all, though he speaks of his being elected to the Senate, but did not take his seat, in 1786.) Mr. Wentworth stood well as lawyer and statesman, and he was highly respected for his virtues and benevolence.

Ebenezer Smith was born in Exeter, moved to Meredith at an early period of its settlement, "and was as a father to the new settlers for many years;" he was Representative from Meredith in May, 1775, and again chosen in December and served until December, 1776; he also represented the town in 1781. He was Judge in the Court of Common Pleas from 1784 to 1787,—was appointed Judge of Probate in 1797 for the county of Strafford, and continued in the office to 1805; and was also Councillor and Senator.

[The name of Ebenezer Smith for Councillor four years, and

Senator ten years, appears on the records between 1783 and 1797, from Strafford county; and there being two persons of that name, one in Meredith, the other living in Durham, and both having held a seat in the Council and Senate, renders it difficult to assign, from the records at the office of Secretary, the honors due to each respectively. Probably the town records might show as to Senator, and specimens of the hand-writing of each decide as to Councillor.]

Matthew Thornton was a native of Ireland, and born about the year 1714. He emigrated with his father to Connecticut, where he received an academical and medical education. He established himself in Londonderry, in this State, as a physician—was appointed, by Gov. J. Wentworth, Colonel in the Militia. Colonel Thornton was elected President of the Convention which met at Exeter, April 21, 1775, and again on the 17th of May, when the Convention took the name of Provincial Congress. December 21, 1775, the Congress met at Exeter, and resolved itself into a House of Representatives, January 5, 1776, and Matthew Thornton was chosen Speaker. September, 1776, he was chosen delegate to the Continental Congress. He was Chief Justice of the Superior Court from 1772 to 1782—was also one of the Committee of Safety a portion of the time in 1775-6-7; was Councillor in in 1776 and 1780, and Senator in 1784-5-6. Judge Thornton was considered by those who knew him well, to be a man of strong mind with clear conceptions. The young and the old were alike sharers in the agreeable versatility of his powers, in the inexhaustible stock of information which a long and industrious life had accumulated. He removed to Merrimack in 1780, where he resided until his death.

Simeon Olcott was born at Bolton, Connecticut. He graduated at Yale College in 1761, commenced the practice of law in Charlestown; was appointed Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, 1784; Associate Justice in the Superior Court, 1790, and Chief Justice, 1795. In 1801 was elected to the Senate of the United States, and served four years. Judge Olcott was a distinguished man in his intercourse with society; and in the character of a judge he manifested less regard for the letter of the law, than for the spirit of equity.

Enoch Hale was a delegate from Walpole to the Congress held in Exeter, May 17, 1775, and represented the town in the Legislature 1776 and 1778; he was also chosen a Senator from Cheshire, 1784, and Counsellor in 1780 and 1781; he served as sheriff a part of the time during the Revolution, in the county of Cheshire. Mr. Hale obtained a charter for, and constructed the first bridge across the Connecticut river—built in 1785.

Moses Dow was sent a delegate from Haverhill to the Provincial Congress which met in Exeter, May 17, 1775; he also represented the town in General Court, 1780 and 1781; was Councillor 1785 and 1786; he was Senator 1784, 1785 and 1791. Mr. Dow was appointed Register of Probate, December 25, 1784, for the county of Grafton, and faithfully performed the duties of the office to 1808.

MINISTERS IN NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

[In giving the following lists of names of ministers preaching in the state of New-Hampshire, the same name is given in some instances in two towns. Where it occurs, it may be understood the preacher officiates in both places.]

Congregational Churches.

I. Trinitarian Congregationalists.

This denomination in New-Hampshire hold an Annual Convention, under the name of "The General Association of New-Hampshire." Auxiliary to this, there are thirteen associations, each having their own officers, and holding their meetings at times and places to suit their convenience, for promoting and spreading the great cause of religion.

[The Congregational Journal, Rev. Henry Wood, editor, and published by B. W. Sanborn, is the only periodical published in this state devoted to the particular interests of this denomination. It was established in 1819, and is the oldest religious newspaper in the state.]

STATE INSTITUTIONS.

N. H. Asylum for the Insane.

Incorporated July 2, 1838, and the Asylum was opened for the admittance of those afflicted with insanity, September, 1842.

The Asylum is located in Concord, on Pleasant street, on an eminence overlooking the village, the rich valley of the Merrimack, and the adjacent country for several miles in circuit. Adjoining the Asylum are more than 120 acres of valuable land, well adapted to the wants of the Institution. This is cultivated to good advantage, mostly by the labor of the patients, to whom it affords the best of exercise, and to whose recovery it essentially contributes. The improvements which are in progress on the lands of the Asylum lead to the belief that it will eventually become the Model Farm for the State.

With a single exception, this is believed to be the only strictly self-supporting Asylum in the country, and the economy of its management entitles its officers to commendation.

Number of patients admitted up to June 1, 1847,	455
Number entirely recovered, - - - -	151
Number admitted from May 31, 1846, to June 1, 1847, - - - - - - - - -	89
Number of inmates June 1, 1847, - - -	100

The price of board for patients from this State is as follows:

For the first 13 weeks, - - -	$2·25
For the second 13 weeks, - - -	2·00
For all subsequent time, - - - -	1·75

For these terms patients are supplied with board, fuel and lights, washing, medical attendance, use of horse, carriage, &c.

The sum of $800 was granted by the Legislature, July 2, 1847, for the relief of the indigent insane.

The friends of those unfortunate persons needing aid, and agreeable to the above grant, should apply therefor by petition addressed to His Excellency the Governor, to the care of the Superintendent of the Asylum.

President, George B. Upham, Claremont.

New-Hampshire State Prison.

Warden, Samuel G. Berry.
Deputy Warden, William Berry.
Chaplain, Rev. Eleazer Smith.
Physician, William Prescott, M. D.

We gather from the Annual Report, made to the Legislature May 31, 1847, that the affairs of the State Prison continue favorable, particularly in the discipline and moral reform of the inmates. The Warden states in his Report: "During the past year, as heretofore, I have endeavored to maintain and continue the same mild but decided system of governing the prisoners to which I referred at some length in my last report. Another year's experience has only strengthened and confirmed my convictions, not merely of its practicability, but of its immense superiority, as a reformatory agent, over any severe rigid and arbitrary method of controlling even the worst of men."

The diligent labors of the chaplain, in his course of moral and religious instruction, has done much in giving strength and stability to the discipline of the prisoners.

All the convicts who are able to work are employed in the different branches of manufacturing carried on within the outer walls of the prison. For the present the work carried on is that of cabinet work, shoe making, smithing and hat-making.

Commissioner of Common Schools,

Richard S. Rust, A. M., Northfield.

Appointed annually, and term of office to commence July 1st.

The law requires the Commissioner to spend at least twenty weeks, annually, in the different counties in the State, for the purpose of promoting the cause of general education. The Commissioner is required, in the month of June, annually, to make a report to the General Court, which shall contain the substance of the returns from the several towns made by the school committees, and passed over to the Secretary of State the first day of April; and, also, such information as the Commissioner may have collected, and such suggestions as to him may appear important or useful. He shall, also, procure 600 printed copies of the report, and lay them before the General Court, in the June session. Salary of the Commissioner, $600.

From the very able Report of the Commissioner of Common Schools for 1846-7, we find there are in the State of New-Hampshire about 2,300 school districts; number of scholars attending the Winter Term, 75,000; average number in attendance, 55,000; average length of Winter schools, 9 weeks; average wages without board, $13·50, and of females, $5·65 per month.

It is but justice to say that the above statistics only approximate very nearly to correctness, as there were 22 towns which did not make returns, and the statistics from these towns were obtained by average.

The amount of money required to be raised in the State for the support of common schools, is about $100,000,—actually raised, $120,000.

Teachers' Institute of Hillsborough County.

For the above list of Senators and Representatives to the Thirtieth Congress, care has been taken to obtain and give as correct a list as possible at this time, (October 1, 1847;) and the compiler believes he has succeeded in correctness, or nearly so, as far as the elections have taken place.

APPENDIX.

Corrections.—93d page, 8th Reg., for Lt. Col. John R. Wheeler, Derry, read the same of Salem; and for Major Calvin Boyd, Pelham, read the same of Londonderry.

54th page, erase the name Calvin Webster, of East-Kingston, the same having deceased.

56th page, New-Market read the name David Murray as Justice of the Peace throughout the State.

Changes.—46th page, read for Lewis Smith, Henniker, the same of Concord, (Fishersville.)
45th page, read J. Everett Sargent, Canaan, the same of Wentworth.

Additions.—Road Commissioners for the County of Rockingham—John Page, Kingston; True T. Locke, ———; John Scammon, Stratham.

Mr. Lyman D. Stevens, who was admitted to the practice of Law at the October term of the C. C. Pleas, held in Concord, 1847, has opened an office in Concord.

Statistics on pages from 15 to 20.—It was the intention of the compiler, when he commenced this collection, to have given them more in detail, but soon found that the space allotted in the Register would not admit but a little more than chronological events.

Dartmouth College. In this Institution there has been no material change in the officers or government, since 1847, except one of the Trustees, and for which the reader will please substitute in the Register for 1847, His Excellency Jared W. Williams, Lancaster, and all will stand correct for 1848.

New-Hampton Academical and Theological Institution. For Professors and Teachers, see Register for 1847; and for the Principal in the Female Department, substitute Miss Susan Colby, of New-London, and it will be correct for 1848.

New-Hampshire Conference Seminary, located at Northfield. For Teachers, see Register of 1847.

Prof. Wheatstone, of King's College, London, has, by the invention of a curious apparatus, ascertained by experiment the velocity of electricity to be at the rate of 288000 miles per second; at this rate, it would pass around the earth on the equator, 11 13-25 times in a second.
